OUR RESEARCH HIGHLIGHTS:

- End of life and palliative care in malignancy, non-malignancy and cancer
- Stakeholder experience and care preferences
- Palliative care economics, including the impact of palliative care on trajectories of care and costs
- Estimating future needs for palliative care
- Palliative and end of life care in people with intellectual disability.

THE BENEFITS OF AIIHPC PCRN MEMBERSHIP

Membership of AIIHPC Palliative Care Research Network has greatly helped in developing partnerships and collaborations in palliative care research. This has included leading a successful consortium HRB application under the secondary data call, key roles in two EC Horizon 2020 projects (which also involve colleagues from UCD and Queens University Belfast), and a partnership with UCD that has been projecting future needs for palliative care.

AIIHPC has supported us to disseminate research messages to a wide variety of stakeholders using multiple communication channels including face-to-face meetings with Voices4care members, AIIHPC Youtube channel and social media handles, The Palliative Hub website, annual PCRN symposium and AIIHPC interdisciplinary seminars.

AIIHPC and Irish Cancer Society Joint Seed Funding Award to Dr Emer Guinan will increase understanding of the link between daily exercise and risk of fracture in people with bone metastases.

WE ARE KEEN TO COLLABORATE ON:

We are keen to develop further our collaborations, drawing on our experience in research with people with intellectual disability, neurological disease and cancer; We have expertise in a range of quantitative and qualitative research methods, including skills in the application of economic analysis in palliative care.
